

Adele flips the finger 'at the suits' at Brit Awards - watch

Written by Colin Compton

BRIT Award winner ADELE gave TV bosses the finger after her acceptance speech was cut short at the Brit Awards ceremony.

The singer, who bagged the British Female Solo Artist and Best Album awards, looked embarrassed as host James Corden was told to axe her thank-yous to make way for Indie legends Blur.

She made the well-known one-fingered gesture before the lights went down for the band.

Later she said the insult was aimed at "the suits" putting together the show — screened live on ITV1.

She said: "I flipped the finger but it wasn't to my fans. I'm sorry if I offended anyone, it was the suits that offended me."
